As an answer to the growth in demand of foods, and with the purpose of protecting the ecological conditions for the future generations, a group of farmers and agronomists with a large technical and commercial background, joined together and formed Exportadora Nova Terra 15 years ago.

The first products to grow and export, were fresh grapes to the United States. However, after the second year, the business expanded and diversified to other products and markets as well. Now, Nova Terra grows, comercializes and exports fruits and vegetables from Chile to different markets around the world.

- Since the beginning, our goal has been to preserve the ecology and environment, and to provide healthy products for the people.
- Members of Nova Terra were the first to export fresh radicchios by boat to USA, several years ago.
- Our company was the first in Chile, to cultivate fruits , to export them to the United States.
- Nova Terra is founder member, and part of the directory of the Chilean Organic Association.

Nova Terra also commercializes fruits from other growers in the several Region of Chile; gives export service, and technical assistance.
